THE TRAGEDY OF SHANNON

By VICKY LANE
 vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE heartbroken family of a young woman who died after falling from a Harlow tower block have paid a moving tribute to a daughter and sister who was "the life and soul of any party".

Shannon Jones (23), of Hobtoe Road, was killed when she fell from the balcony of her sixth floor flat in Spring Hills Tower following an evening out last Wednesday.

Although police are continuing to investigate the circumstances surrounding the tragedy, family members believe the fall was an accident. It is understood she had been drinking heavily.

Shannon's mother Ruth Mills, of Morley Grove, said she was devastated by the loss of her "beautiful, bubbly" daughter.

"Shannon always had such a big smile on her face that would light up any room she was in," she told the Star. "She was a very popular, fun girl who liked to enjoy herself and was always the life and soul of any party. I can't put into words just how much she will be missed."

Known as 'Shamoo' among family members, Shannon was the eldest of five children and had been working as a barmaid at the Small Copper pub in Momples Road since Christmas.

"Her dream was to be famous one day," said her mother. "Everyone used to always say she was like a celebrity but just without the money."

"The whole family are just devastated and want to put out a warning about the dangers of binge drinking to stop other families having to go through the pain we are going through right now."

"We hope this will warn young people that they need to be careful as it just isn't worth the risk of getting so out of control."

"Shannon was a beautiful, bubbly girl

Jubilee tree takes pride of place in Harlow Town Park

CELEBRATIONS to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee began this week with the planting of a commemorative tree in Harlow Town Park.

During a ceremony led by Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett on Tuesday, a field maple tree was planted in Spurriers Garden to mark the monarch's 60-year reign.

Supplied by the Queen's appointed company Barcham, it is expected the tree will be between 15-20 metres high once fully mature.

Cllr Garnett, who was accompanied by Colin Lincoln from the Town Park Users' Group and council landscape and biodiversity manager Darren Fazackerley at the ceremony, said the tree would be a lasting legacy for Harlow.

"We expect the Queen's Diamond Jubilee to be a much-celebrated occasion in Harlow and we are making plans so the community can enjoy and celebrate this wonderful historic occasion together," he added.

"A number of street parties across the town are already in the advanced planning stage."

Council boss blasts leniency shown to statue 'thief' let off with police caution

A DECISION by police not to prosecute a man arrested for trying to steal a valuable bronze statue on public display as part of the town's prized sculpture collection has been branded "appalling" by the leader of Harlow Council.

Andrew Johnson criticised the leniency shown to the 44-year-old culprit, who was released without charge after being arrested for the attempted theft of the Gerda Rubenstein sculpture Julia. Instead he was given a caution.

The incident happened in January when two men were spotted prising the £15,000 work of art from its plinth in Sewell Harris Close. They fled empty-handed after have-a-go hero Brian Baker gave chase as they tried to take the sculpture away in a wheeley bin.

Cllr Johnson fumed: "I am appalled by the issuing of a caution for this offence. What kind of signal does it send to those people who believe yanking one of our valuable statues from its pedestal is a route to easy money?"

"I understand the hands of local police are often tied by the statute books but I urge the Government to bring in tougher sentencing for people involved in this kind of crime."

But Chief Inspector Ben Hodder of Essex Police said cautions were an effective means of deterring criminals from re-offending. "A thorough investigation has been carried out and the offender interviewed," he said. "However, no links to other similar offences were found."

"Cautions take into account the views of the victim as well as requiring the offender to admit the offence. These are national standards and each case is assessed on its merits by a senior officer."

Pair get five years for gang fight stabbings

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE mother of a Harlow teenager who was left fighting for her life after being knifed in a girl gang attack three years ago spoke this week of her relief that her daughter's attackers have finally been brought to justice.

The fight between rival gangs happened on steps leading down to the car park of the Harlow branch of Sainsbury's on September 19, 2009 and resulted in three girls being stabbed.

On Friday two girls – now aged 17 and 18 and both from Hertford – were sentenced to five years in a young offenders' institution after being found guilty of wounding with intent.

Three other girls – two aged 18 and from Waltham Cross and the other aged 17 from Hertford – were given community orders after pleading guilty to violent disorder.

None of the girls can be named because they were juveniles when they committed the offences.

This week the mother of one of the victims who suffered life-threatening injuries in the attack told the Star her daughter could now start to rebuild her life following "two years of hell".

"It has been a very traumatic time, most of all for my daughter who continues to deal with the effects of the attack," she said. "Every day since has been a struggle for her. She has lost over two years that she should have been enjoying as a teenager."

"Now that the case is over we are hoping she can move on with her life and we can start afresh. She has recently enrolled on a college course and continues to regain some normality with help from family, friends and outside organisations."

FLASHBACK: Right, the scene of the fight in September 2009 and, above, the Star's report of the brawl

"As a family we are enormously proud of her and are now looking forward to brighter times ahead."

She also praised the police for their efforts to catch her daughter's attackers.

"Harlow police, and in particular Detective Inspector Jamie Gingell, worked very hard to ensure the people responsible were held to account in what was a vicious attack," she said. "We cannot thank them enough."

Speaking outside Basildon Crown Court where all five defendants were sentenced, DI Gingell said: "This was a pre-arranged meeting between two gangs of girls and resulted in a fight where knives were used."

"One girl received life-threatening injuries and it was only thanks to the prompt and effective medical treatment she received that she survived. Two other girls were stabbed."

"This was a very rare occurrence in Harlow which makes this all the more shocking."

"It had a profound effect on the victims who are still coming to terms with it. However, this positive court result will hopefully allow them to now move forward with their lives."

Tragedy of Shannon

who had so much going for her. Her death has left a huge hole in our lives."

Brother Charlie Morris (16) said Shannon was the best sister anyone could have asked for. "She was always joking around and winding us all up," he said. "She had a great sense of humour and never took anything in life too seriously."

Her 18-year-old brother Kelvin added: "She was a brilliant sister and we were all really close. We are all really going to miss her."

Since her death floral tributes have been left at the spot where she died and social networking sites have been flooded with messages from friends paying their respects.

On the Star website, Leanne Warren wrote: "It only felt like yesterday we were out having a laugh and a joke. You had the biggest personality and always had a smile on your face. I know you will be the brightest star in the sky. RIP angel."

Robby Dee said: "Shannon was such an amazing girl, such a sad loss and at such a young age. She will be missed by so many friends. May you rest in peace Shannon, you will always be in our hearts."

A police spokesperson confirmed yesterday (Wednesday) Shannon's death was not being treated as suspicious but appealed to anyone with information to contact Harlow Police on 101 to aid ongoing investigations.

The coroner has been informed and an inquest will be held in due course.

Catering firm staff up for a challenge

HEALTH-conscious staff at a catering company are preparing to go head-to-head to help schools provide children with nutritious meals.

Employees of Salad Days, a company based in Matching Green that specialises in supplying healthy fast food at large outdoor events, will be taking on two challenges to raise as much money as possible for School Food Matters, a charity helping schools to serve fresh, sustainable meals.

Splitting into two teams of five, the first group have decided to tackle The Wolf Run – an intense 10km race over obstacles, mud pits and rivers – while the second group are planning a skydive.

Company director Mark Prove, pictured above right with Andrew Swiney, said: "We are quite a competitive lot as it is as we are always setting up contests between our stalls, so this challenge has only increased that."

"Obviously the team who raises the most money will be the winners so everyone is really devoting themselves to training and raising sponsorship. It is all rather intense."

Mark, who despite being terrified of heights is part of the skydive team, said everyone was keen to support School Food Matters.

"In view of the service we provide, this is a charity that is close to our hearts," he said. "It is also one of those less well-known ones so we are just as keen to raise awareness of it as we are to raise funds."

"It is a fantastic organisation which not only works directly with schools, local authorities and parents to make nutritional changes to school meals, but also concentrates on educating children directly about how to put healthy food together."

"It is something we feel is important for kids to learn whilst they are still young."

With both the events taking place over the second weekend of April, Mark said the challenge was coming up a bit quicker than he would have liked.

"I'm not looking forward to it," he added, "but it will be completely worth it in the end to support the work of School Food Matters."

Run 10k for a worthy cause

RUNNERS are being asked to raise funds for St Clare Hospice by taking part in its annual 10k run.

The hospice at Hastingwood is hoping more than 600 people of all abilities will sign up for the event. Organisers have set a fundraising target of £20,000 which will be used to provide services to people with life-threatening illnesses.

The run takes place on Sunday, April 1, starting at 10.30am from the hospice and following a scenic route around local countryside.

On their return, runners will receive a goody bag and can tuck into a barbecue.

Tracy Stratford, St Clare's event fundraiser, said: "This run is always a great event which sees serious club runners and fun runners looking for a challenge join together to raise funds for their local hospice."

All participants must be over the age of 15. Registration costs £12 (£10 for affiliated runners). For more information visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk or call (01279) 773750.

RSPCA's offer on bull-breed dogs

THE Harlow branch of an animal welfare charity is running a scheme to encourage owners of bull-breed dogs to have their pets neutered in a bid to reduce the large number being put down every day.

The RSPCA's Stort Valley clinic at The Stow, in conjunction with Companion Care Veterinary, is offering to go halves with owners on mean-tested benefits on the cost of neutering their pets.

A special rate of £80 for male dogs and £120 for females would be shared between the client and the charity.

RSPCA spokeswoman Marion Wellsman said: "I am not sure if people are aware but our shelters are 80 per cent full of bull-breed dogs and across the country they are being put to sleep at the rate of about 30 per day."

"We feel the only way to reduce this problem is to neuter these animals, hence why we are running this scheme to make it more affordable."

For more information call the clinic on (01279) 306058.

Lottery results

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, March 2 is ticket holder 170365, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 242889, who also lives in Harlow.

Bowling break for carers

CARERS and those they care for have been invited to enjoy an evening of free ten-pin bowling.

Third year business and marketing students from the University of Hertfordshire are organising the event to give carers in the area some respite from the demands of looking after someone else.

Working in conjunction with Harlow Bowl, the group are hoping to get as many carers from the town – along with those they look after – to the evening of fun and refreshments.

Spokesperson Danielle Bonner, pictured with fellow student Siobhan Gowdie and Harlow Bowl manager Chris Precious, said: "We were really keen to organise an event aimed at carers as one of our group members has a brother who requires a carer so knows first hand about the incredible work they do."

"Our hope is that the evening would not only provide a fun and different night for both carers and the people they care for, but also help to raise awareness about the important role carers play in the community."

Danielle added: "Ultimately we are hoping our scheme will encourage local businesses to replicate similar events in the future to continue giving such groups some respite from the full-time job of caring for someone else whilst helping the community to become more disabled friendly."

The bowling event takes place at Harlow Bowl on Monday, March 19 at 4.30pm. To reserve a place or for more information, call Danielle on 07944 291916.

Straw inferno destroys barn

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a fierce blaze that ripped through a farm barn on Thursday evening.

It took four crews more than four hours to extinguish the fire, which started shortly after 7pm at the farm in Roydon Road, Harlow.

The barn, which contained 12 tonnes of straw, was already engulfed in flames by the time firefighters arrived at the scene.

The farmer had done his best to contain the fire by using plant machinery to remove additional straw from the immediate vicinity of the building.

The blaze was finally extinguished by 11.15pm but a relief crew stayed on site to dampen down the area and ensure no hotspots remained.

Firefighters then made a further two visits to the farm the following morning to check the site was completely safe.

A spokesman for Essex County Fire and Rescue Service said the cause of the fire was not being treated as suspicious and no further investigation would be carried out.

Starman Stuart at Science Alive

STARGAZING residents are invited to spend an evening exploring the solar system during a talk from a national astronomy journalist.

Stuart Clark, former vice chairman of the Association of British Science Writers and fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, will be giving the talk about his new book The Sensorium of God as part of the Science Café programme run by Harlow educational charity Science Alive.

The session, entitled 'Isaac Newton and the Birth of the Scientific Method', will focus on the story of Newton and his contemporaries as they sought to understand why the planets move the way they do.

The talk takes place next Wednesday (March 14) starting at 6.30pm at the Science Alive premises in Harlow Leisurezone.

To book a free place, email info@science-alive.co.uk or call (01279) 413412.

Woman injured

A WOMAN was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital, Harlow, yesterday morning (Wednesday) after suffering a neck injury in a two-vehicle accident in Bury Lane, Epping.

Join the celebrations by entering Harlow's Race for Life

ORGANISERS of the Harlow Race for Life are urging local women to celebrate International Women's Day today (Thursday) by signing up to this year's Cancer Research UK fundraiser.

As part of the global movement commemorating the achievements of women – which is celebrating its 101st anniversary – mums, daughters, sisters, grandmothers and friends are being encouraged to set their own challenge for 2012 by taking part in the Race for Life in the Town Park.

Event manager Lucy Hynes said: "International Women's Day focuses attention on women's successes and highlights how much we can achieve together. We hope the day will spur Harlow women on to enter Race for Life and unite in one cause – to help beat cancer."

This year's event, which is being supported by the Star, takes place on Sunday, May 20. The aim is recruit more than 2,800 women and raise in excess of £190,000 for cancer research.

"Cancer Research UK receives no Government funding for its ground-breaking research, so money raised through Race for Life is crucial to the pioneering work of doctors, nurses and scientists on the front line in the battle against all 200 types of cancer," added Lucy.

Race for Life is open to all women and girls regardless of age, size and ability. You can choose to walk, jog or run either a 5k or 10k route.

The cost to enter is £14.99 for adults and £10 for under 16s.

If you are unable to make the Harlow race on May 20 but still want to take part, the Epping race at North Weald Airfield is being held on the evening of Wednesday, July 11.

For more details or to sign up for either (or both) races, visit the website at www.racefor-life.org or call 0871 641 1111.

Town centre protest over 'threat' to NHS

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

MORE than 300 people signed a petition opposing plans for sweeping NHS reforms during a Harlow Labour Party rally in the town centre over the weekend.

The party faithful were joined by councillors, trade unionists, nurses and prospective parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride to protest against the Government's Health and Social Care Bill.

Setting up a stand in Broad Walk, the group encouraged shoppers to support their campaign against the controversial proposals, which, if approved by Parliament, would see existing commissioning bodies replaced with GP-led consortia.

The proposals were branded "reckless" by the local Labour Party, which warned they paved the way towards privatisation of the NHS and cost millions.

Ms Stride told the Star: "Local health trusts in the east of England have been asked to set aside £350m to pay for this reckless and unnecessary reorganisation, with West Essex asked to put aside £16,797,000 alone.

"Some 3,500 nurses have already been lost and research suggests a further 2,500 posts will go in the coming years.

"In opposition, David Cameron told people he could be trusted to protect the NHS. In Government he has put Tory free-market ideology ahead of basic patient care."

But Harlow MP Robert Halfon accused Labour of spreading "misinformation" about the reforms and said he found their opposition mystifying.

"It is all well and good Labour demonstrating about the NHS but under Gordon Brown and Tony Blair we had 16 health acts and nine reorganisations," he said.

"They scrapped GP fund-holding and then tried to bring it back. They abolished the internal market, then brought it back. They abolished health authorities and again brought them back. Morale was sapped and money wasted, and deficits in Harlow's local NHS were at record levels.

"By contrast, the NHS reforms proposed by the Government are not about reorganising the bureaucracy, they are about about scrapping it."

He added: "The reforms are about stopping the waste and putting our GPs and hospitals like Princess Alexandra Hospital in the driving seat.

"There is a one-off cost, yes, but it is worth it. We have to invest now to get savings later."

Mental health charity to open new premises

A LEADING mental health charity is preparing to open its doors to the public for the first time since relocating to new premises in Harlow.

West Essex Mind – which offers advice, support, counselling and therapy for a range of mental health problems – is holding an open day on Monday to mark its move to Corner House in the Bush Fair shopping precinct.

Starting at 9am, it will give people the chance to learn more about the range of support available via its newly launched Talking Therapies service, which includes computerised cognitive behavioural therapy courses, face-to-face counselling, reading groups, employment workshops and family systemic therapy.

Chief executive Alison Walker said: "We are looking forward to welcoming members of the public to our new Harlow base and showing them the kind of work we are committed to carrying out within the community.

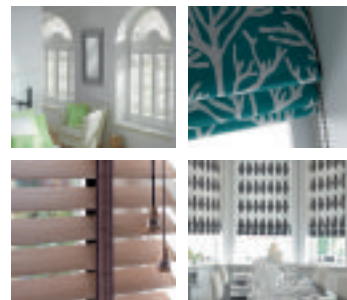

"We've got a lot of work ahead of us in the coming year, including developing a package of events and information for our members, reviewing how we involve service users in all aspects of the organisation, increasing our expertise in supporting peer support initiatives and ensuring that our mission is relevant and responsive to the needs of the local population."

Is it fair blue badge holders will be charged twice to park?

SIR, As a blue badge holder I would very much like to hear how the new £10 charge against vulnerable and disabled people can possibly be classed as fair (Star, March 1).

Who did Essex County Council consult before setting this fee? It certainly wasn't all the blue badge holders in the county, because this is the first I have heard of any charge being implemented.

The current badges already include photographic ID and holograms but they don't stop non-eligible drivers from parking in disabled bays. Almost every time I park in a disabled bay I see somebody parked there who isn't displaying a badge at all, let alone a fake one.

I have never yet been able to park in any of the disabled-only parking bays in the town because of thoughtless non-disabled drivers and I have held a blue badge for nearly three years. If you challenge somebody over their inconsiderate behaviour you are quite likely to get a mouthful of abuse, but lucky us, we're going to get to pay for that privilege in the future.

Obviously Essex County Council will be using this extra revenue to fund extra officers to patrol these disabled bays and catch and fine the inconsiderate drivers who park in these bays without thought for others. They won't be using this discriminatory tactic just to raise revenue because they're broke, will they? I should also like to point out that the blue badge doesn't automatically entitle the owner to free parking either (a commonly held misconception). Currently we do not have to pay in council-owned car parks but we are charged the same as everybody else in other car parks in the town, including the Water Gardens and the Harvey Centre. Is it fair that we should be charged twice?

Other councils have had to withdraw similar plans to charge for blue badges because, under the Disability Discrimination Act and the Equality Act of 2010, the charge was found to be unlawful as holders were being, in effect, charged twice for parking because they are disabled. I suspect that if we weren't being charged to park anyway, many of us would feel a lot happier about this charge and we would agree that it would be fair, but this just is not the case.

Incidentally, while the badges can be valid for up to three years, they are not all issued for three years. Some are issued on a yearly or biennial basis only, a fact that Essex County Council is well aware of. This means that some disabled people will be charged three times as much for the same time period as others which, frankly, is disgusting.

Nobody is harder on benefit cheats who claim for fake illnesses than the genuinely disabled and we despise people who think it is acceptable to fake blue badges, but if you believe everything the Government and the media spout, you'd have to think that our ailing NHS must be being gradually wound up because all the major illnesses and disabilities have apparently been cured and there isn't a single genuinely disabled person left in the country.

We are consistently pilloried by the Government and the media who are looking for an easy group to blame and a way to claw back money. Please don't let Essex County Council jump on the bandwagon as well.

Government must stop using tax on fuel as a cash cow

SIR, Since becoming our MP, Robert Halfon has made

Why we all need to show compassion

SIR, I feel I must write to reply to Ian Kennett's letter referring to the gutlessness and lack of ambition he believes those who do not own their own home demonstrate (Star, February 23).

My parents and grandparents relied on social housing during the course of their lives. My grandad joined the Army in 1915 and was blown up in the trenches six weeks before the end of the war. Suffering severe injuries he spent the next 30 years in and out of hospital having various bits of shrapnel removed.

Despite this he managed to work all his life and bring up two sons. This man and his wife, who were obviously lacking in the characteristics that Mr

Kennett holds in such high regard as they never owned their own house, then saw their sons go off to war as well. Both my father and uncle served in the RAF during the Second World War and the only guts and ambition they showed was that which was needed to defeat fascism.

The lesson that they learned from their experiences was that people needed to stand up for other people who were more vulnerable than themselves and it was because of this lesson learned that when they, and many like them, came home they elected a government that delivered the NHS and the welfare state.

I hope I have inherited the characteristics of my parents and grandparents rather than to be soulless and have total lack of compassion for others within my community.

With the burden of the current economic situation falling primarily on the most vulnerable in society, I would call on all to adopt the principles of those who fought for the institutions set up after the great sacrifice of war, protect them and stand by all members of our community that are in need.

Mr Kennett, you should never judge a man or woman by what they own rather by what they say and do.

a big fuss over his campaign to lower fuel prices. But as the price of a litre of petrol and diesel both reach record highs this week, one wonders what his real understanding of the problem is and what difference his campaign has made.

The current global factor contributing to the high prices is instability in Iran and their threat to interfere with the passage of oil tankers through the straits of Hormuz in the Persian Gulf. Of course, this is not something Mr Halfon has control over.

What he could influence, however, is the way his Government continues to use motorists as cash cows. When we pay £1.37 for a litre of unleaded petrol this week, a whopping 0.86p will go into the government coffers (0.66p fuel duty and 0.20p VAT). Yes, 63 per cent of the price we pay at the pump goes to the Government.

Instead of tinkering around at the edges and trying to score political points, Mr Halfon would do well to address this central problem.

It's time to let county council take over running of Harlow

SIR, Having read the latest edition of Harlow Council's propaganda communication Harlow Times, I am struck by how little the council is directly responsible for these days, particularly if you are an individual houseowner.

Their only major area of responsibility is for the town's public housing stock. All other significant responsibilities are held and controlled by Essex County Council, as I have discovered over the past 12 months.

Refuse collection, street cleaning and property maintenance are contracted out and to these have now been added leisure and pastime facilities (the museum, Pets' Corner etc) so releasing the council from the day-to-day running and cost of these facilities and, we are told, saving money at least in the short term.

All of which raises a far-reaching question: why do we still need Harlow Council, 33 councillors and the related costs? All their current responsibilities could be absorbed by Essex County Council. The resulting cost savings to Harlow households would surely appeal to our current administration's cherished ambitions to do less and spend less.

Local administration could be handled by a professional manager overseeing relevant contracts and by doubling the town's present number of county councillors. The Civic Centre could be retained as a venue for local use or rented as retail or office space.

This also raises another question: is there any real point in voting in the upcoming election on May 3 other than for a county councillor?

I'm pleased that overgrown bushes have been removed

SIR, "Residents' fury as council digs up road shrubs" is a catchy headline but as a non-furious resident in Church Langley it is not representational of my views or others I have spoken with.

The shrubs did interfere with line of sight, particularly in lower seating cars. Not everyone has a Range Rover! The shrubbery only showed a three-year-old's head above it and whilst most people drive sensibly, there are always people prepared to speed recklessly in residential areas.

I attended the public meeting and councillors were present to explain/discuss/inform. There may be a cost benefit to the council in cheaper maintenance but what's the harm in applying sense? Church Langley is an ageing estate and is showing signs of disrepair and neglect. The pot of gold to maintain it will be limited.

I am pleased the overgrown bushes have been removed. If grass replaces them, so be it. I wish the numerous private overgrown hedges partly blocking public footpaths could also receive similar treatment, but at a cost to the private owners.

I am not sure what is wrong with society but local people involved in local decisions seems important. A relatively new group trying to improve Church Langley is the Church Langley Residents' Association.

This group genuinely tries make a difference on behalf of residents and at meetings councillors are often present. Perhaps if more residents made the effort to attend they would feel they had a voice and would be more informed.

A person who attends, even if to disagree with proposals, is more valuable in a community than a person who makes no effort.

It's no secret that there is a budget every year

SIR, Last week on your letters page Cllr Mark Wilkinson, the leader of Harlow Labour Party, criticised me and council officers in an attempt to deflect from his lack of presenting an alternative budget, for the third year running by saying that "an alternative at a week's notice" was not possible.

What rubbish. The Labour Party know that there is a budget in Harlow every year. It's not a secret and neither were our plans, with the publication of our final budget weeks before the actual budget meeting having been presented previously to the Cabinet in January.

Come off it, Mark, be honest with the people of Harlow. You didn't put a budget up because you didn't have any ideas or alternatives. You just enjoy criticising from the sidelines.

He suggests that I am living the film Groundhog Day. Well he reminds me of a scene in The American President: "We have serious problems to solve and we need serious people to solve them."

Whatever your particular problem is, I promise you [Cllr Mark Wilkinson] is not the least bit interested in solving it. He is interested in two things and two things only - making you afraid of it and telling you who's to blame for it."

Cllr Andrew Johnson
Leader, Harlow Council

Labour should reflect on what they did in power

SIR, How hypocritical can Councillor Mark Wilkinson get in slagging off the Conservatives? (Letters, March 1). Who was it that handed Surriers and surrounding facilities over to the Great Parndon Community Association because they had neglected it?

Who sold off the sports centre and swimming pool, which belonged to us (those who rented Harlow Development Corporation housing had to pay extra each week for these facilities)? Labour.

Who wasted our funds on the waterslides that had a very limited life, and who let the swimming pool become so unsafe it had to be closed? Labour

Who allowed a considerable amount of the council housing stock to become dilapidated? Labour

Before Cllr Wilkinson puts pen to paper in the future, let him take a moment to reflect what his predecessors did when they were in power.

Charles Jackson
Rectory Wood, Harlow

We all know reason why there was no alternative

SIR, The letter from the leader of the Labour group last week only goes to reinforce the view they are unsuitable to run the council and the town.

He blames their lack of an alternative budget on the fact they only saw the papers the week before the meeting and had no time to prepare one. Every council taxpayer knows the council sets a budget every year, so how much more time do they need?

He also claims they were prevented from seeing officers. They were invited to discussions, but declined. They could have had as much time with officers as we did if they had asked. Not only that, such a refusal to meet with the opposition would be illegal.

And then there is the ignorance of our proposals for the discretionary services. These were broadcast in the run-up to and at the conference last July, attended by his own members. Did they keep that a secret all year? How did he miss all the briefings, statements and letters to the press?

The simple truth is that Labour failed to tell us what they would do because they have no idea.

Entries flood in as registration lines open for Midnight Walk

MIDNIGHT Walk organisers are hoping this year's fundraiser for St Clare Hospice could be the biggest yet after entries flooded in when registration opened on Thursday.

"We were busy processing applications within minutes of the system being opened online," said events fundraiser Tracy Stratford. "It was fantastic."

Once again the Star is supporting the walk and on Tuesday the St Clare team popped into the Star offices in West Gate.

St Clare's communications manager Giles Wright said: "We are so fortunate to have the annual support of Harlow's local newspaper. We know how well read it is and how many people sign up because they've seen the Midnight Walk mentioned in the paper."

The 10km walk around Harlow takes place on Saturday, June 16, starting and finishing at the Water Gardens in the town centre. It is now in its fifth year and organisers have set a target of at least 1,350 people taking part with a goal of raising £90,000 for the care the hospice provides.

It costs £15 per person to take part and entering could not be easier - you can register online or contact the fundraising team to request a registration form.

"Although the event is a couple of months away, March is a perfect time to register with our '2 for £20' promotion," said Tracy. "Last year over 600 people signed up in the first four weeks, so don't miss out!"

"People tell us that they love taking part as a group, either with colleagues from work, friends or family members. So why not sign up with someone and make the most of the discount offer. Also, you'll have more time to plan your fancy dress and night of fun!"

St Clare provides its services free to people in Harlow and across West Essex. The annual running costs of the hospice are £2.7m but it only receives 24 per cent of its funding from the NHS, which means it must raise at least £5,000 a day to continue its specialist care.

Star editor Ken Morley said: "That is why the Midnight Walk is so important and why we want as many of our readers as possible to sign up. It's a great way of having fun while supporting a charity that offers so much to people in our community at a time of greatest need."

If you have never taken part before and wondered what all the excitement is about, check out the photographs from previous walks at www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight.

To register online, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight. To be sent a registration form, call (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk

Double rapist who drugged victims jailed

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A RAPIST who drugged his victims before sexually assaulting them while they were defenceless has been jailed indefinitely.

Samuel Little was nicknamed Pervy Pedro because he claimed to make pornographic films at his home in Harlow. But Chelmsford Crown Court was told that his perversions went beyond film making.

He preyed on young women, first drugging them and then subjecting them to vile sex attacks.

Little (25), of Broadfields, was convicted of two rapes, possession of cannabis with intent to supply, supplying drugs with intent to commit sex abuse, making indecent images and indecent assault.

The jury was told that it was Little's own conceit that led to his downfall. A male friend of one of the women Little raped told her the defendant had videoed his assault on her and had shown it to him.

It later emerged he had also streamed images to the internet.

Andrew Jackson, prosecuting, told the court that Little would first render his victims insensible with drugs. "He plied victims with drink and drugs in order to render them compliant. Some victims didn't know they were being drugged until it was too late.

PERVERTED: Samuel Little

"Video footage recorded by him showed him supplying one victim with cannabis in order to sexually abuse her."

But in 2010 he showed a friend video footage of one of the incidents and he recognised the girl as a friend of his. Mr Jackson continued: "She appeared to be completely insensible and he was having sex while she had no knowledge of what was going on."

Little claimed during his trial that any sexual contact with the girls was consensual and that he had not supplied drugs but had "shared" some.

John Burton, representing Little, said in mitigation the offences were opportunistic and that there had been no pre-planning or grooming.

Passing sentence, Judge Karen Walden-Smith told Little: "You pose a serious risk to people of serious harm. You supplied alcohol and cannabis and, in the case of two rape victims, some other substances which left them incapable of resisting you."

Imposing an indefinite sentence for the public protection, she ruled that Little should not even be considered for parole until he has spent at least five years behind bars.

Speaking after the case, Detective Constable Nick Rhodes said: "I am satisfied with the sentence handed to Little. However, he has never shown any remorse or accounted for his actions."

"The trial was long and challenging for all involved and in particular for his victims, and I would like to thank everyone involved in this case which resulted in his conviction."

Boy flees muggers after driver sounds car horn

TWO muggers trying to rob an 11-year-old boy in Harlow were scared off when a passing motorist sounded his car horn.

The incident took place in First Avenue at about 8am on Thursday when the men grabbed their young victim from behind and started searching his pockets for valuables.

Investigating officer DC Jacqui Mileham said: "The boy was not hurt and had nothing taken but he remembers that a passing motorist beeped the horn which caused the suspects to release him, allowing him to run off."

Both men are described as white and of average height. One had short black hair and wore a grey hoodie, black jeans and trainers while the other was wearing a blue and black polo shirt, black boots, grey jogging bottoms and an Umbro-branded watch.

DC Mileham said: "I would appeal to any witnesses who may have seen this, and in particular that motorist, to contact me at Harlow Police station on 101."

Moving to Harlow was a breath of fresh (country) air

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ANOTHER reader got an unexpected surprise when he spotted his parents in a photograph featured in Nostalgia a couple of weeks ago.

When Michael Caswell, of Parsonage Leys, Harlow, saw his mum and dad – Phil and Elise – in the picture taken on a works outing for staff from Key Glass, memories from his childhood came flooding back. “We came to Harlow in the autumn of 1953 from Canning Town when dad left Silvertown Glass works and joined Key Glass,” he explained.

“I was four at the time and I can just remember that mum got lost in Perry Spring and had to ask the builders laying the paving stones where number 77 was as the doors had not yet had the numbers attached!” “It was quite an eye-opener to move from the smog of the East End to ‘the country’ but it didn’t take too long to settle in.”

He said the rest of his family soon joined his parents in the ‘countryside town’ of Harlow. “Many of mum and dad’s relations also moved to Harlow, including Uncle Harry Clarkson and family, Uncle Dave Caswell and family and Uncle Bill Caswell and his family,” he said. “Many of us still remain in Harlow and both my sister, Jean, and I have our children and grandchildren in town.”

Michael’s father is the man kneeling in front of the lady with the sombrero hat towards the left of the picture while his mother is the lady in white next to him.

“Sadly mum and dad passed away a month apart in 1996,” he added. “They would have been a fund of knowledge but I have fond memories of those charabanc outings to Clacton and Southend.”

Two little boys and one sandbox

Do you recognise the happy youngster facing the camera while playing at Spring Hills Primary School?

Reader Mrs E. Crumb, of Broadfield, said the “young lad” with his side to the camera is her son but she wonders if the other boy or his family would recognise him after all these years.

“The photographs in Nostalgia of pupils at Spring Hills rang bells with me,” she wrote. “We lived three minutes away from the school in Commons Gate at the time and both my son and daughter attended there until they left for Burnt Mill School.

“This photo is of my son Graham which one of the teachers took at the time in the early 1960s while at play with what I think is a sand box.”

If you can put a name to Graham’s sandbox playmate, write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

And finally . . .

CONTINUING our recent theme of school punishments, Nostalgia heard this week about one of the worst – being made to sit next to a girl!

Michael Cheesman, of Broadway Avenue, was the unfortunate pupil submitted to the ordeal while at Churchgate Street Church of England Primary School.

“The ultimate punishment dished out by Mrs Bishop was to have to sit next to a girl, presumably because girls were well behaved and influenced boys to their betterment,” he recalled.

“All the girls ever did to have to sit next to a naughty boy was volunteer . . . and nearly all of them did so!

“My teacher would choose the nicest girl – as girls went – called Susan. I didn’t mind too much though as it enabled me to throw missiles at my friend who was also sitting next to a girl!”

1987 25 years ago in the Harlow Star

Harlow’s shot at television stardom backfired on Friday when The Six O’Clock Show turned into a six o’clock shambles. Residents are furious after the show’s presenters slated Harlow on what was meant to be a show dedicated to its 40th anniversary. They said there was nothing to do and nowhere good to go.

A fed-up video shop owner is offering a £2,000 reward to combat crime in his Bush Fair premises. The businessman said it would be worth the money if it led to the conviction of the thieves after four break-ins at his shop in the past six months.

The threat of AIDs is killing off acupuncture in Harlow, practitioners have warned. Since a government leaflet warned people to beware of tattooists, ear piercers and acupuncturists, practitioners say trade has dropped off. They assured residents the procedure was completely safe and all needles used were sterilised.

Stickers warning people not to feed the pigeons are appearing around the town courtesy of the council’s environmental health department. A spokesman said they were in response to the problems caused by the bird. An official cull was recently cancelled when details were leaked in advance.

Why it does you good to be a quitter

TALKED about it, thought about it, even tried it? You aren't alone. Of the 10 million smokers in the UK, most want to give up.

It's not easy but with data showing that 2,000 people die every week from smoking related illnesses, it is worth it.

Every day smokers are preached to about how bad smoking is for their health. Whether it's on a cigarette box or TV, the message is out there loud and clear. However, it has to be a personal decision and one the individual is ready to make.

We all know smoking can lead to cancer and is the main cause of many lung diseases. We know that non-smokers are 50 per cent less likely to have a heart attack and we've all heard the startling statistics of how many people die from smoking-related illnesses in the UK each year (that's 100,000 if you haven't heard).

So if there is no good to come of smoking – and the data does seem to point that way – why do so many of us continue spending £2,000 a year on it?

Giving up

Tempted but sceptical? For those smokers who have failed to quit in the past, doubts are understandable. Patches, gum and other products can all help but it seems that something more is needed to increase the number of achievers.

That's where the NHS Stop Smoking Service comes in. It is proven that if you get motivational support from a specialist team you are four times more likely to be successful.

The system works by offering 'quitters' nicotine replacement therapy. That means working through a variety of medications and products with a therapist to ensure they work for you.

Karen Wheeler, a Stop Smoking Assistant based at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital, said: "Some of our advisors are ex-smokers so we really understand what people are going through. We have extensive training to support each client in one-to-one appointments and offer out of hours telephone support for anyone who needs it. We also offer group support sessions.

"The service is very popular and we have recently expanded it to offer more weekday evening clinics and Saturday morning clinics."

Anyone can self refer to the service. Just call (01279) 827866 and you will be offered an appointment. You expect 6-8 one-to-one support meetings to get you through the difficult period.

Next Wednesday (March 14) is No Smoking Day so why not make this your stop smoking day? The Stop Smoking Team will be outside Princess Alexandra Hospital's main entrance and also outside Primark in the town centre to promote the service. Pop along and have a chat with an advisor.

Smoking: fact or fiction?● Nicotine is addictive.

True, it is very addictive but it soon leaves your system. It's the habit of holding a cigarette which is harder to break.

● Withdrawal symptoms can be unpleasant. True, although most disappear within a month and they can be alleviated with the use of stop smoking medication.

● Smoking reduces stress.

False, nicotine is actually a stimulant which prevents you from relaxing.

● Smoking is sociable.

True, it can be. However, since the smoking ban was introduced in July 2007 it has become less sociable.

● Quitting smoking will lead to weight gain. False, the physical act of smoking only burns up to 200 calories a day (one bag of crisps). And whilst nicotine can make you feel less hungry, the drug is out of your system in three days so quitting will not cause significant, long-term weight gain.

Family on the move

THE jewel in the crown of Harlow's sculpture collection will soon take pride of place at a prestigious exhibition on modern design at London's Victoria & Albert Museum.

Henry Moore's Harlow Family Group – which became the town's unofficial emblem when it was unveiled outside St Mary-at-Latton Church in 1956 – was removed from its display in the window of the Civic Centre on Thursday night before making the journey to the capital.

It took a specialist removal team more than four hours to hoist the 1.5-tonne stone sculpture onto wheels using two lifts before carefully manoeuvring it out of the building.

It will be part of the V&A's new exhibition British Design 1948-2012, which opens later this month and features Harlow as an example of iconic New Town design.

For many years the sculpture was on public display but after it was vandalised in the 1980s it was taken back to the Henry Moore Foundation at Perry Green for safe-keeping.

There it stayed until 2003 when it was returned to Harlow and put on display in the new Civic Centre.

Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said the sculpture's presence at the exhibition underlined the town's growing reputation as a centre for the arts.

"This sculpture symbolises the New Town for many people and it is absolutely fitting it is going on loan to an exhibition dedicated to modern British design at the Victoria & Albert Museum," he told the Star.

"Harlow's reputation as a centre for arts and sculpture continues to grow. Within the last year we have won a national award for our public collection of more than 60 sculptures and John Mills, one of Britain's leading sculptors, chose Harlow for a rare retrospective of his work last summer.

"I hope the V&A exhibition proves a shop window for what Harlow has to offer, and visitors come here to see our outstanding range of works."

Will Rea, chairman of the Harlow Art Trust, added: "Harlow was a classic New Town development of the 20th century and is now seen as a classic of 20th century architecture. The prominence of Harlow Family Group in the show is recognition of that fact."

Residents ready to step up fight against developers' homes plan

DEFIANT residents have vowed to step up their campaign against plans to build hundreds of new homes on fields west of Harlow after developers unveiled their outline proposals for the site.

Members of the Stop West Summers group turned out in force at two public consultation events, put on by developers Crest Nicholson, to voice concerns over increased traffic, extra strain on health and education facilities and the destruction of wildlife habitats.

Campaign co-ordinator Mark Rowe, of Little Cattins, said the drop-in sessions had increased their determination to fight "tooth and nail" to stop the project from going ahead.

"I haven't spoken to anyone living here that wants this development and the response to this consultation shows they are willing to take a stand against what's planned for the doorstep," he said.

"The number of signatures on our petition is growing by the day and I'm pleased to have the backing of local councillors and our MP.

"But to take our fight to the next level it's clear we need to do more, starting with the formation of a proper residents' association. Once we've done that, we'll be able to attend future stakeholders' meetings and have a much better chance to make ourselves heard."

Crest Nicholson development executive Sarah Conlan said: "We know and understand that people who live near the new site have concerns and that some will continue to oppose the principle of development.

"However, most of the residents wanted to ask questions, find out more and talk to us. We were listening carefully.

"A full summary of their comments will be published and we will review the proposals to see what changes can and should be made."

As the proposed development straddles the border between Harlow and Epping Forest districts, both authorities would have to approve the plans before work could start.

Advice on dealing with redundancy

ADVICE for people who have lost their jobs as a result of redundancy is being offered by Harlow Council.

The event takes place at the Civic Centre a week on Monday (March 19) and is open to anyone who has been made unemployed or who faces the threat of redundancy.

In the past few weeks jobs have been lost with the closure of Blue Printing Group and branches of Home Store & More and Peacocks.

Representatives from organisations including Jobcentre Plus, Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service, the Money Advice Service and Adult Community Learning will be on hand to provide information and advice on money and debt, benefits, training opportunities, finding work and starting a business.

"The sudden closure of three businesses was a huge shock for local workers," said Russell Perrin, the council's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise. "We are pulling together a number of organisations who can provide advice and support to help people through this difficult time.

To attend the redundancy event, which takes place from 10.30am-1pm, call (01279) 446445.

DVDs, toys, gift sets, books, beauty products, stationery, craft materials, and many other items spill out of the containers assembled side-by-side along one wall of the huge storage area.

Giant rolls of fabric, sheets of plywood, MDF, coloured card, plastic, and stacks of A1 sized paper piled six feet high fill the other.

Resembling an Ikea store in layout and a leading supermarket in range and sheer volume of stock, the Phoenix Resource Centre is a veritable Aladdin's Cave of goodies that needs to be seen to be believed.

But unlike the treasure troves of lore, this grotto of wonders is located on top of the Harvey Centre – and you don't need a magic word to get in. The brainchild of father-and-son team John and Andy Richardson, the environmental charity operates by collecting clean, quality waste from commercial organisations – including surplus stock, offcuts and end-of-line products – and recycling it to be used by those who need it.

For a £10 lifetime membership fee, individuals and groups such as families, charities, schools, care homes and social clubs can buy tokens for a 'supermarket sweep' style circuit of the centre to fill a trolley with whatever they want.

"We tick so many boxes with what we are doing here," said Andy, who is also a trustee for the organisation.

"First and foremost, everything at the centre would be in a landfill if we hadn't taken it. The amount of quality, usually unused items dumped when they are no longer deemed sellable is shocking.

"Our aim is to put a stop to it for obvious environmental reasons and also for practical ones. There's simply not enough landfill space left and it is a total waste of decent produce.

"Then there are the benefits for companies. Using landfill is not only something commonly deplored nowadays but it is also very costly. We have saved organisations up to

The grotto of wonders just waiting for 'customers' to take their pick £35,000 a year by taking their surplus stock – it is a huge amount."

Having only opened their second premises in Harlow at the end of last year, the not-for-profit charity is hoping their new venture proves as popular as their first Northamptonshire centre, which now boasts more than 1,000 members.

"We can get over 20 tonnes of resources coming in a week and everything has to be given away," said Andy. "The main condition on our contracts with these companies is that nothing we collect can be resold."

He added: "Ultimately we want as many people as possible to come and see for themselves exactly what we have to offer here.

"When you see teachers leaving in tears of disbelief at the amount they've collected for their classes, or charity reps beaming as they leave with a trolley load of raffle prizes for their fundraisers, you'll quickly understand why our set-up is working so well."

● The Phoenix Resource Centre is open on Mondays (10am-4.30pm), Wednesdays (10am-7.30pm) and Saturdays (10am-noon). For more information, visit www.phoenix-resource-centre.org.uk.

VOTERS in America have the chance to elect the purr-fect candidate to represent them after a cat named Hank entered the race for the US Senate.

The nine-year-old former street cat, who already has his own website, Facebook page and Twitter account, is standing for election in Virginia.

According to his campaign website, the tie-wearing puss will work hard to make sure there is milk in every bowl across America if he is elected.

He has already hit the campaign trail in his home state, starring in an advert outlining his pre-election pledges and featuring in a number of articles in the local and national press.

Hank is even recruiting human volunteers to help spread his message by knocking on doors, manning the telephones and staffing polling places on election day.

But if he is to have any chance of winning the seat, Hank will have to secure more votes than former Virginia governors George Allen and Tim Kaine, who are also standing.

Wacky election campaigns like Hank's are not unheard of in America and have even been successful in the past.

In the 1981 a dog called Bosco achieved worldwide fame after winning the race to become mayor of the small Californian town of Sunol, serving in the role until his death in 1994.

BUSINESS BRIEFINGBy Ian Hudson

General Manager

Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce

WE'VE been very busy organising events for March and April.

Our March networking meeting will take place at GSK next Thursday with Chris Barnardo, founder of the Wand Company, as guest speaker.

On March 22 HDCC will be running the second 'New to Business' workshop. Representatives from local banks, accountants and solicitors will join HMRC, FSB and others to offer one-to-one help to people looking to start a business.

On April 17 the monthly meeting is at St Clare Hospice and on April 27 we are putting on a corporate social responsibility workshop in conjunction with Kier Harlow. The larger employers in the town are being invited to meet people from all sectors to look at how they can give something back to the town. Meanwhile, many chamber members continue to flourish.

Paul Violet from Finance Confidential provides an overseas investment service and says he has never been busier.

Greenhill Consulting have been accepted for inclusion in the Government's business mentoring portal www.mentorsme.co.uk. Chris Greenhill said: "We're pleased to add to the choice of business support available in and around Harlow and especially as it highlights our offer of free mentoring for new starts and emerging business via our involvement with the harlowbusinessmentors.co.uk initiative."

Adrian Archer is MD of Beard and Fitch, a transmission component manufacturer which has been based in Harlow for more than 50 years. The company is pleased to announce winning a contract for the manufacture of a high precision gearbox that will be fitted to CCTV cameras predominantly used in the oil and gas industry around the world.

The contract, worth around £1m over three years, has already resulted in the company recruiting extra staff and investing in new machine tools

RPJ Document Management Ltd, which provides professional document scanning services nationwide from their secure Harlow scanning bureau, are coming to the end of their 7th year.

MD Roy Holland said "Not only has it beaten the previous year which was our best ever thanks to the efforts of Harlow chamber by getting local businesses to trade locally, we are now working with even more local businesses of all sizes, in Essex, Herts and surrounding counties."

● To find out more about Harlow Chamber of Commerce, visit www.harlowchamber.co.uk or call Ian Hudson on (01279) 271104.

Showcase to give business a boost

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW'S premier business networking event is set to be "bigger and better than ever" when it returns to the town this summer.

Now in its third year, the Harlow Business Exhibition has gone from strength to strength since its launch in 2009 and organisers are confident this year's expanded show will be the most successful yet.

Taking place at The Manor Of Groves Hotel in High Wych on June 12, the all-day event will feature 100 exhibitors from the town and the surrounding area and is expected to attract over 700 visitors.

Business-boosting seminars will run throughout the day while on-site catering and live entertainment is also planned.

Co-director Ian Hudson, general manager of Harlow & District Chamber of Commerce, said the exhibition offered local firms a unique, low-cost opportunity to forge new contacts and promote their brand.

"The Harlow Business Exhibition has been described by Robert Halfon MP as the biggest business event in the area and the directors are committed to growing it year-on-year," he added.

"On June 12 we will have 100 exhibitors and we are aiming for over 700 visitors. Plans for 2013 are already under way and we are planning for 150 exhibitors and over 1,000 visitors."

Harlow-based design and marketing agency The Sowerby Group has been appointed as event managers for this year's exhibition. Managing director Sue Sowerby said her team had been working tirelessly to ensure both exhibitors and visitors got the most out of the experience.

"As previous exhibitors, we were in a very good position to take on this project," she said. "We moved into Harlow in May 2011 and were keen to do more business locally – and what a project to start off with."

"Harlow offers a lot of business opportunities and our team has been working hard on planning the event, selling the stands and sponsorships, organising seminars, catering facilities, entertainment and much more."

"We want to make 2012's event bigger and better than ever and, with our passion and sheer determination, we are certain that all those who take part and/or visit will benefit."

There are a limited number of stands still available for this year's exhibition. Costing £295 plus VAT for a single stand or £495 for a double stand, packages include a table, chair and power. All firms signing up will also be listed in the 1,000 show guides.

To advertise at the exhibition contact The Sowerby Group on (01279) 408669, email sales@harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk or visit the website at www.harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk for more information.

Eleven babes a-leaping

ELEVEN babies born at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital last Wednesday will have to wait longer than most to celebrate their first birthdays after arriving on February 29.

It will be another four years until the leap year tots – including one set of twins – will be able to celebrate their actual birth day.

Meanwhile their mums and dads have the important task of deciding which date will mark the special occasion – February 28 or March 1.

According to new parents Victoria Wyatt (27) and Ben Lewsey (22) from Sawbridgeworth, daughter Skye Abigail will have her party on March 1 every non-leap year.

Arriving two weeks early, the couple's first child was born at 9.26am and weighed in at 5lbs 3oz.

"I have been saying since about 22 weeks that I thought she would come early and probably on the leap year day," said Victoria. "It was a lovely way to commemorate it though and we will just celebrate Skye's birthday on March 1 as that is the date it would have been had it not been a leap year."

Stacey's crafty fundraiser

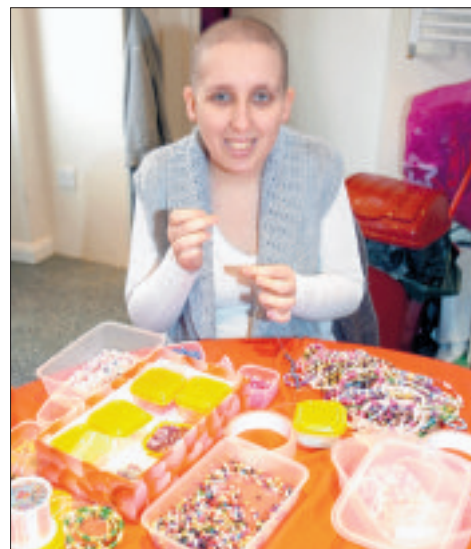

A YOUNG woman battling an inoperable brain tumour is selling homemade bracelets to buy new equipment for Princess Alexandra Hospital's children's ward.

Despite currently undergoing chemotherapy, Stacey Johnson has set herself the goal of raising £1,500 through sales of the beaded bracelets to buy two laptops and six portable DVD players for Dolphin Ward.

Stacey's mum Sharon said: "Stacey wanted to buy the new equipment for the ward as, having been a patient there herself, she knows what a comfort they would be to other children receiving treatment.

"Making the bracelets has also given her something to focus on and take her mind off the chemotherapy."

The project is the latest in a series of fundraising initiatives launched by the courageous 19-year-old from Much Hadham. Soon after being diagnosed with her tumour five years ago, Stacey set up the charity Kisses4Kids and has since raised over £50,000 towards supporting other young people suffering from serious or terminal diseases. Stacey's bracelets cost £2 each and can either be purchased from PAH or by visiting the Kisses4Kids Facebook page.

Excellent in every respect says independent report

LAST December Howe Green House School at Great Hallingbury received its latest report following inspection by the Independent Schools Inspectorate. The school was thrilled to be awarded 'excellent' in every category.

The main findings of the report state: "From the EYFS onwards, pupils are well educated and achieve very high standards in both their learning and personal development.

"Teaching is excellent overall and is characterised by thorough subject knowledge, knowledge of individual pupils and their needs, and the positive use of praise and encouragement.

The provision for pupils with SEND and for gifted and talented pupils is well managed and effective. Excellent pastoral care, highly effective welfare arrangements and secure health and safety procedures underpin the outstanding personal development of the pupils. They are confident, articulate and eager to play an active role in their learning.

"Governance of the school is excellent. The ethos and aims of the school are overseen exceptionally well by the governors and senior leadership team, who provide strong support to ensure the school fulfils its aims. Links between the school and parents are excellent and strongly support the achievement and personal development of the pupils."

Headmaster Graham Gorton said: "This is an amazing achievement, particularly for such a small school. With the school celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, we look forward to continuing to build on our success."

Pupils reap the benefits of hard work and preparation

COOPERSALE Hall School, Epping's leading independent prep school, is very proud of its 11+ results, with all Year Six pupils gaining their first choice schools.

Mostly off to selective independent senior schools and some with scholarships, the pupils in Year Six have worked very hard to ensure success at their 11+ exams recently.

Headmistress Kaye Lovejoy said: "These children have done so well, their education and experiences at Coopersale Hall over the past seven years of their school life have prepared them exceedingly well for this 11+ process.

"We take exam and interview preparation very seriously and they are now reaping the benefits. Forward-thinking new parents do consider 11+ results when choosing schools for their toddlers and I expect many questions from them at our open morning on Friday, March 16 when we open our doors for a 'School in Action' morning.

Company's debutants are heading in the right direction

AS a vehicle for debut directors to test-drive their abilities, the one-act play is hard to beat.

Harlow Theatre Company's annual celebration of the theatrical short has unearthed some genuinely talented debutants in the past – and this year's festival was no exception.

A three-pronged deconstruction of human relationships, the programme opened with a heart-wrenchingly tender tale of the unbreakable bond between a mischievous younger brother and his ambitious big sister.

Cleverly told in flashes of episodic dialogue, Martin Colton's beautifully restrained adaptation of Geraldine Aron's Bar & Ger followed the inseparable siblings from schoolyard scrapes to teenage tantrums before ending on the emotional sucker punch of fast-living Bar's adolescent tragedy.

The play demanded two extraordinary performances from its cast members, and the incredibly versatile Gemma Lee (Ger) and Dan Thomas (Bar) didn't disappoint.

The brother/sister dynamic was entirely believable and both showed tremendous composure in tackling an emotionally-charged script without pushing the play into overt sentimentality.

Next up was Gavin Williams' take on the Alan Ayckbourn comic short A Talk In The Park, in which the attempts of five strangers to connect with one another fall on deaf ears. Gently poking fun at the absurdity of everyday interactions, this was a frequently funny if straightforward riff on emotional isolation which drew solid performances from all five cast members.

Completing the bill was Christopher Durang's sharply-observed comedy Wanda's Visit, the frequently hilarious tale of an unhappily married couple whose flatlining relationship is jolted back to life by the appearance of the weak-willed husband's zany ex-girlfriend.

Tautly directed by Dolleen Howlett, the fast-paced farce had the opening night audience in stitches from start to finish, largely due to a larger-than-life performance from Andrea Thorpe as wacky wannabe wife Wanda and a brilliantly sardonic turn by Alyssa Upton as prim and proper love rival Marsha.

Three fantastic plays from three promising directors. On this evidence, HTC's future looks very bright indeed.

Chris Moss

It's business as usual for Chas without Dave

By CHRIS MOSS

HE'S performed alongside Jerry Lee Lewis, supported The Beatles on their last-ever European tour and played to 35,000 adoring fans at Glastonbury, but Chas Hodges isn't ready to call time on his colourful career just yet.

Now aged 68, the Edmonton-born multi-instrumentalist and one half of boisterous barroom rock 'n' rollers Chas 'n' Dave is limbering up for yet another non-stop nationwide solo tour – and is even plotting his next assault on the pop charts.

Speaking to the Star ahead of his gig with Lonnie Donegan Junior at The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) night, Chas revealed he was set to return to the studio later this month to record new song Got Me Ticket For The Darts, a raucous, knees-up tribute to his new favourite sport featuring some of the world's greatest arrows players on backing vocals.

"It's similar to what me and Dave did on Snooker Loopy, a really catchy, fun track that'll hopefully strike a chord with darts fans everywhere," he said.

"That's what music has always been to me, something to enjoy and have fun with. And I've certainly had my fair share of good times over the past 50-odd years."

It's a career that started early for Chas when, aged just 12, he started to learn the guitar with encouragement from his piano-playing mother. In his late teens he hooked up with instrumental group The Outlaws – which also featured a young Ritchie Blackmore, later of Deep Purple, on guitar – and got his first big break supporting rock 'n' roll legend Jerry Lee Lewis.

"I remember thinking how lucky I was that someone was willing to give me a few bob just to get up on stage and do what I loved doing," he said. "I still feel exactly the same way today; it's just an incredible rush."

Stints in Cliff Bennett & The Rebel Rousers – with whom Chas supported The Beatles on their last-ever European tour in 1965 – and Head, Hands & Feet followed before he decided to change tack and form Chas 'n' Dave with best mate Dave Peacock.

"I was on tour with Head, Hands & Feet in the US when I started to feel like a bit of a fraud singing to Americans in my fake American accent," he said. "It wasn't right and I remember thinking to myself 'why don't I try and do something that represents where I'm from?' That's where the idea for Chas 'n' Dave came from – I just wanted to be myself."

The pair soon became household names, releasing 14 albums, notching up eight top 40 singles and even rocking Glastonbury in 2005 before deciding to call it a day in 2009 following the death of Dave's wife.

After reforming for a series of farewell shows last year, the pair are set to make one last festival appearance together this summer at Festival on the Isle Of Wight before Dave hangs up his bass for good – although Chas refused to rule out another reunion someday.

"We'll never say never, but Dave is happy now restoring and building his Romany gypsy caravans. I've never seen anyone as good at it as he is."

"I've certainly got no plans to retire, even though I sometimes hear people saying that I must be mad to want to carry on touring at my age. But to me, playing live is like food and drink. If I don't play at least once a week I can't be sleeping!"

● Chas performs live at the Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) night, supported by Lonnie Donegan Junior. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £21 (£20 Playhouse Supporters' Club members).

>>friday Eccentric former King Prawn frontman Babar Luck returns to The Square with his World Citizen Folk band in tow. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £6 (£5 members).

>>saturday Hotly-tipped sludge-rockers

Bleech bring their garrulous nu-grunge sound to Harlow as they embark on their 2012 headline tour. Hailed by the NME, Clash magazine and BBC 6Music as ones to watch, the power trio will be supported by psych-garage loons The Sly-Tones and raucous rockers The Nomadics. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £5.

>>wednesday TV star-turned stand-up comic James Redmond tops the bill at tonight's rib-tickling Comedy Club gig. Sci-fi epic is a triumph of style over substance

certificate 12A, 2h12m

INTENDED as the first instalment of an action-packed trilogy, John Carter is a battle beyond the stars based on a novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Oscar-winning director Andrew Stanton's sprawling epic is a miasma of digital effects which attempt to emulate Avatar by immersing us in an eye-popping alien world.

Young Edgar Rice Burroughs (Daryl Sabara) is summoned to the home of his beloved uncle and former Confederate soldier John Carter (Taylor Kitsch), who has perished in mysterious circumstances. Leaving through Carter's cherished journal, Burroughs learns that his uncle sought sanctuary from Apaches in a cave from where he magically transported to Mars and was captured by the Tharks, a savage race of 15ft tall green warriors with tusks protruding from their mouths.

Tars Tarkas (Willem Dafoe) and his plucky daughter Sola (Samantha Morton) attempt to protect Carter from power-hungry rivals Tal Hajus (Thomas Haden Church) and Sarkoja (Polly Walker).

Meanwhile, Matai Shang (Mark Strong), the leader of the Holy Therns, take charge of the planet's destiny by orchestrating the marriage of Prince Sab Than (Dominic West) of Zodanga and Princess Dejah Thoris (Lynn Collins) of the besieged city of Helium.

The princess protests at the arranged nuptials, despite the pleadings of her father (Ciaran Hinds) and when Dejah captures a glimpse of Carter's rippling chest, her rebellion intensifies.

Opening with a computer-generated aerial battle in one of the sandstorms that rage across the surface of Mars, John Carter is a soulless spectacle with the technical wizardry overwhelming one or two flickers of emotion.

Kitsch is devoid of charisma as the eponymous time-travelling soldier, who tips the balance of power in favour of the pacifist good guys by scything through hordes of computer-generated beasts.

A convoluted race-against-time finale neatly tees up a second film in the series, but unless John Carter magically strikes box office gold it's doubtful that his adventures will go any further than the closing credits.

GEORGES Duroy (Robert Pattinson) harks from lowly stock and arrives in 1890s Paris with barely two francs to rub together.

He is taken under the wing of friend Charles Forestier (Philip Glenister), who lands the ambitious upstart a position on a newspaper and introduces him to the elegant drawing rooms where his wife Madeleine (Uma Thurman) and friends Virginie Walter (Kristin Scott Thomas) and Clotilde de Marelle (Christina Ricci) hold court.

Dressed in a jacket paid out of Charles' deep pockets, Georges surmises that if he is to gain a foothold in polite society, he must first seduce the wives and daughters of the men who wield power and exploit their influence.

So he hops from one bed to the next, securing opulent lodgings as his underhand scheme reaps rewards. However, playing with emotions is a perilous business and on more than one occasion he dismisses one lover in the nick of time before his next 'appointment'.

Matters become more complicated when Madame Walter's daughter Suzanne (Holliday Grainger) makes it clear she would like to be plucked by Charles, too.

Eventually, the whole sordid truth must come out and tavern wench Rachel (Natalia Tena) is just the woman to knock down Georges' precarious tower of lies.

WANDERLUST Stressed New York couple George (Paul Rudd) and Linda (Jennifer Aniston) are too busy fighting the tide of the rat race to devote enough time and energy to their relationship. When redundancy derails their plans, they reluctantly move to Georgia to live with George's crass brother, Rick (Ken Marino). En route, they make a pit stop at a hippy community called Elysium led by the charismatic Seth (Justin Theroux), who believes that all forms of pleasure should be embraced by the residents. At first Linda refuses to enter into the spirit of Elysium but George finds the openness of his new surroundings a tonic, sharing his feelings with bumbling founder Carvin (Alan Alda). Over time though, Linda begins to blossom and the lovers must look deep within to decide if their future lies together.

THIS MEANS WAR CIA agents FDR (Chris Pine) and Tuck (Tom Hardy) are sent to Hong Kong to apprehend crimelord Heinrich (Til Schweiger), leading to a high-profile shootout. When the buddies return to HQ to face the music, ladies' man FDR decides to lighten the mood by helping shy and gallant Tuck dip his toes back into the dating pool. He creates a profile for his friend on a relationships website and, soon after, Tuck accepts a first date with Lauren (Reese Witherspoon) who is recovering from a break-up from her sweetheart (Warren Christie). Tuck is instantly smitten but soon after the date, FDR also encounters Lauren and he falls for her acidic wit. Armed with a dazzling array of hi-tech gadgetry, FDR and Tuck compete against each other to win Lauren's heart.

THE BEST EXOTIC MARIGOLD HOTEL Evelyn (Judi Dench) has recently lost her husband and is coming to terms with solitude in her twilight years. Determined to start anew, she abandons Britain for Jaipur and a grand retirement home called The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel. En route, Evelyn meets six other retirees all bound for this luxury development for residents in their golden years: cantankerous wheelchair user Muriel (Maggie Smith), who is bypassing the NHS waiting lists to undergo a hip replacement abroad; waspish snob Jean (Penelope Wilton) and her long-suffering husband Douglas (Bill Nighy); retired judge Graham (Tom Wilkinson); incorrigible ladies' man Norman (Ronald Pickup); and love-hungry spinster Madge (Celia Imrie).

SAFE HOUSE Agent Matt Weston (Ryan Reynolds) is caretaker of a CIA safe house in Johannesburg. His routine is thrown into disarray by the arrival of agent Daniel Kiefer (Robert Patrick) with a prisoner – rogue operative Tobin Frost (Denzel Washington) who sold out the agency to the highest bidder. In the middle of an interrogation the building's defences are compromised by a gang of gun-toting thugs led by Vargas (Fares Fares). Matt escapes with Tobin, bundling the prisoner into the boot of a car as he makes a hasty exit and alerting his boss David Barlow (Brendan Gleeson) and senior agent Catherine Linklater (Vera Farmiga) to the clear and present danger as a game of cat and mouse begins through the streets of South Africa.

THE WOMAN IN BLACK London

solicitor Arthur Kipps (Daniel Radcliffe) is haunted by the death of his wife Stella (Sophie Stuckey) during childbirth. He seeks refuge in his love for their three-year-old son, Joseph (Misha Handley) but his work suffers as a consequence. As a result, Arthur is despatched to the remote village of Crythin Gifford where he must prove himself by attending to the papers of Alice Drablow, the recently deceased owner of Eel Marsh House. The locals try to ward him off but Arthur persists and before long he glimpses a mysterious woman (Liz White) who is blamed for the deaths of children in the village.

THE MUPPETS A puppet called Walter (voiced by Peter Linz) lives with his human brother Gary (Jason Segel), who is about to celebrate 10 years with his girlfriend Mary (Amy Adams). The trio visit Los Angeles where Walter discovers that scheming oil man Tex Richman (Chris Cooper) plans to tear down the Muppet Theatre and drill for the black gold that lies beneath the building.

One of the worries that many landlords understandably experience is the possibility that a month or more will pass between lets when their investment property remains unoccupied.

This can be a serious problem that can adversely affect the short-term cash-flow you so meticulously planned as a route to longer term investment success. Indeed, each month a property remains un-let represents an 8.3% reduction in revenue which can be more than a whole year's yield!

Voids can happen for a number of reasons a tenant leaving early, prospective tenants letting a landlord down at the last moment, personal circumstances, a glut of similar properties becoming available locally, or a dearth of suitable tenants, which can be seasonal. Perhaps the property is somewhat unusual or is simply too expensive.

Some landlords seek to avoid these void periods by immediately reducing the rent in order to secure a tenant quickly. What a shame as the loss may be as great as a month's void!

The best way of avoiding void periods is to employ a good letting agent whose job it is to plan for such eventualities in advance. A void should never be an insurmountable surprise to them, especially when they know a tenancy is coming to an end. We often have panicking landlords wondering what to do, but fortunately we always have a ready supply of waiting tenants, we are meticulously aware of current rental values, and can advise on how to present your property so that it lets out quickly. Whilst the national average void period is 21 days, fortunately ours is a fraction of this - at just 1 Week! Our tenant referencing and other processing procedures are pretty slick, although we say so ourselves, and our greatest delight comes from knowing that our landlord clients can sleep easy at night, knowing that they have tenants in their property doing likewise!

Baby Chevy has lots to offer

By Iain Dooley

THE subject of a recent and comprehensive overhaul, Chevrolet's Aveo is now even better equipped to challenge the more established players in the ultra competitive supermini market.

It's a town car that knows its place, yet with the addition of diesel power it now has the legs to take long motorway journeys in its stride.

Chevrolet engineers have worked hard to improve the car's on road manners and boost its overall refinement and ease of use. Many years have passed since the transition from Daewoo to Chevrolet, and the interiors of modern Chevrolets are significantly better these days.

Furthermore, the past few years have seen a gradual and overall welcome shift for the better and this latest generation Aveo is a good example of what's been achieved.

Chunky controls and solid-looking plastics dominate the Aveo's cabin. Up front the seats are supportive while those in the back of this five-door hatch are no less attractive and equally hard wearing.

Of similar importance is the general ambience, which is far removed from the dour, budget-spec environment of

FACT file

Chevrolet Aveo
1.2 LT

PRICE
from £10,995
on the road

ENGINE 1.2-litre petrol unit developing 86bhp
TRANSMISSION 5-speed manual as standard driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE Maximum speed 107mph, 0-62mph in 13.6s
ECONOMY 60.9mpg
CO² RATING 111g/km

old. What you get now is an uncluttered, easy to use fascia and controls plus plenty of room for occupants.

On the first point, the Aveo's various dials and controls are intuitive and located where you expect them to be. Everything works well and the mix of analogue and digital displays has been executed well.

At the rear there's a good size boot offering a maximum of 653 litres of space once you fold the rear seats to boost its carrying capacity.

Overall, despite its size, the Aveo is a surprisingly practical machine. It easily fits the bill as a first car but would also cope well as a stepping stone to something bigger.

An important addition to the Aveo's engine line-up is a 1.3-litre diesel motor boasting sub 100g/km CO₂ credentials. While this makes sense if you need to dodge congestion charges, Chevrolet acknowledges that it's still petrol power that delivers the vast majority of sales and is a choice that will likely prove the more cost effective for low mileage motorists.

As such, the choice is between 1.2 and 1.4-litre motors producing 86 and 100 horsepower respectively. Unusually there's a six-speed auto gearbox option for the 1.4 motor, otherwise it's a manual five-speed unit all round.

In the real world the petrol engines offer more than enough performance - especially the 1.2. Both are impressively refined and, surprisingly, don't fall into the trap of some rival units by sounding thrashy and coarse when pushed hard. Unobtrusive at the best of times, the 1.2 punches above its weight away from urban areas and feels like it could easily cope with the occasional motorway journey.

For added poke and a more relaxed motorway cruise, the 1.4 unit is better but only just.

It's not just the Aveo's petrol engines that challenge misconceptions. On the road the compact Chevrolet is a refreshingly fun and polished car to drive. You normally expect such cars to do the A-B thing with little fuss and zero character, but the Aveo does it with enough enthusiasm to shame some of the more established opposition.

It's not a difficult car to drive thanks to the ample assistance available from the steering and brakes, yet there's plenty of weight and feedback from the main controls to encourage the occasional bit of spirited driving.

The car's ride is never choppy around town and feels stable and refined at higher speeds. Even twisty roads don't upset the Aveo, with the weighty steering and supple suspension making life easy and rewarding in equal measure.

As a rounded performer Chevrolet's Aveo is a sound and sensible proposition. There's no question that the competition at this level is tough, but the little Aveo offers a good mix of refinement, driver enjoyment and space to make itself heard.

Factor in a good level of standard equipment across the range - choice picks include air-con, cruise control, powered mirrors and front windows on the base model and alloy wheels, Bluetooth and comprehensive trip computer on the likely best-selling LT variant - and it's easy to understand Chevrolet's bullish mood and high hopes for its revamped supermini.

And based on the car's performance, the good news is the company has every reason to be positive about its new baby.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

You can find your voice, and if something or someone has been quietly bugging you, it is probably going to be hard to keep this to yourself. Spoiling yourself can also appeal and even a little luxury can pep you up. Good food also takes on a greater attraction. If you love home cooking you can dream up some luscious new recipes. Call me for more advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

You start this new week, and if month in some style as Mercury powers into your opposite sign, and connects with the electrifying influence of Uranus. This can bring some unpredictability to your relationship sector, but also some zing and genuine excitement. If things have got rather stale or samey, it's time to provide a spark. Call for your love scope...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

Secrets can have a habit of bubbling to the surface, either yours or someone close. Be careful who you open up to. However, your sense of attractiveness is set to soar, which can do your confidence a great deal of good. A makeover can help you to feel even more gorgeous and draw all sorts of positive vibes. Bask in the attention. Call now for more...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

At work you can feel restless - especially if changes keep being made without any great consultation. Doing something completely different can also appeal. If you are feeling tense, be open in how you deal with this. Yet, as the week goes on you will start to feel much more at ease, and a most amazing phase for relationships kicks-in. Call for more...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

A reunion can prove to be particularly poignant and it can be great to reminisce about the good old days together. Then again, your mind can go sweetly backwards. If you decide on a change of course on your future plans, don't be too hard on yourself. You are evolving and if you now want something different, just go with the flow. Call for more advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Your bubbleness lights up any occasion and sudden social possibilities can leave you delighted. If you are an inventive Archer, you can find yourself inspired form. Yet your attention span could be on the low side, so do seek out as much mental stimulation as you can. At work, turn on the charm to deal with an awkward colleague. Call me for more...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

You can rebel against professional demands, or see it as an ideal time to exploit your untapped potential. A training course could be particularly helpful in making you mindful of new employment possibilities. You are also entering a time when the responses you receive from others, can be truly heart warming. Friendships also blossom. Call for more...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

Restless vibes can see you unsettled at home. This could be because you don't like your environment and want to move, or because you are feeling the need to rebel against the status quo. As Venus shifts, your romantic charisma goes up several gears. Single? This is the perfect time to get busy socially, and see where it leads. Call for your love scope...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

Someone could offer you the chance to go for a weekend away and you might decide to just go for it. The usual routines can lose their sparkle, and a change of scene can be the perfect way to revive things. You can also forge closer links with someone older than you, or they can take you under their wing or put in a good word. Call for more astral advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

A surprise text can leave you beaming at the start of this week, and if you do get something going new, it can be lasting. Home improvements feature strongly too, a time when you become more and more aware of the benefits of emotional security and stability - as long as there is plenty of lively chat to keep your mind engaged too. Call for your love scope...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

A dramatic turn of events can see you break away from a well, but equally expensive can crop up. With Venus gliding into your sector of talk and thought, your personal communication takes on a very special magic. If you write or speak in your work, you are entering a very positive time for improving your personal profile. Call for more...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

Money matters are fluid. You can have a flutter and it can come off well, but equally expenses can crop up. Essex County Council

(Primrose Field, Harlow) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2012

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close Primrose Field, Harlow, from the garage entrance adjacent to property No.86, generally south, for a distance of approximately 35 metres. The closure is scheduled to commence on 12 March 2012 for 2 weeks, weather permitting, or where appropriate signs are showing, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while surface water pipelines are constructed to alleviate flooding in the area.

Dated: 8 March 2012.

Semi-final loss for Tye Green in Yetton Trophy

TYE Green Indoor Bowls Club's women's team narrowly missed out on reaching the final of a national inter-club competition.

The Harlow side lost by just three points (95-92) to a team from West Sussex-based Arun District Indoor Bowls Club in the semi-finals of the Yetton Trophy, held at Melton Mowbray in Leicestershire.

>>indoor bowls

A squad of 16 Harlow players took part in this competition, across four different rinks.

Arun started well and built up a good early lead.

With two ends left to play, Tye Green needed just eight points for victory.

They picked up a four on the penultimate end and required another four on the final end to force an extra end.

But the Essex team just scored a single and lost by three points.

Tye had won six previous rounds in the competition to reach the last four.

Full scores against Arun District:
Rink 1: Tye Green (Sheila Smith, Ann Gunn, Esther Warne, Sue Duck) won 25-23.

Rink 2: Tye Green (Lyn Moles, Barbara Braddon, Gill Mitchinson, Sylvia Bloomfield) drew 26-26.

Rink 3: Tye Green (Sylvia Attridge, Dot Westwood, Teresa Shaw, Joyce Grainger) lost 12-32.

Rink 4: Tye Green (Brenda Perrett, Joan Barnes, Janet Peacock, Effie Rogers) won 29-14.

● AN article we published last week on Tye Green IBC suggested that a sum of £782 was raised for charity by competition entry fees, but this was in fact through the hard work and generosity of club volunteers. We would like to apologise for this error.

Cup winners beat Hawks

Harlow Hawks 56, Herts Warriors 70

Herts Basketball League, division one

FORTUNES fluctuated before Harlow Hawks went down to a home defeat against Herts Cup winners Herts Warriors.

Warriors enjoyed an early 12-4 run before better ball movement and unselfish play saw the Hawks recover.

The hosts trailed 21-16 going into the second quarter.

This saw tireless work from Simon Atkinson plus three pointers from Chris Jackson, Dave Spashett and Joe Taffe-Atkins to give Hawks a five-point lead.

The home side led 34-33 at the halfway stage.

Although Atkinson worked well in the third quarter, the Hawks were careless in possession and lazy in defence.

Warriors upped the tempo and despite late three pointers from Shab Niaz, Warriors led 57-49 going into the final quarter.

This quarter was a let down for the hosts. They paid dearly for poor decisions and missed shots.

Although they limited the Warriors to 13 points, Harlow only managed seven of their own and lost by 14 points.

HARLOW HAWKS: Atkinson (12pts), Spashett (8), Taffe-Atkins (8), Jackson (5), Niaz (5), Norkeliunas (5), Ball (4pts), Oftei (3), Jones (2), Oyerinde (2), Moss (2), Burgess.

Avondale and Weald in final

NORTH Weald will meet Avondale Rangers in the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District League Premier Division Cup final.

Weald, aiming for a league and cup double, beat hosts Sheering 3-0 in their semi-final on Saturday.

Scorers were Frank Major (2) and Matt Clarke.

Avondale defeated Heath Rovers reserves 4-0.

Andy Goss hit a hat-trick and F. Lloyd also netted for the visitors.

In the premier division, Frontiers drew 3-3 at home to Hertfordshire Rangers. Tom Ivory (2) and Aaron Weaving scored.

Other results:- Div one: Dunmow Rhodes 7, Frontiers res 2 (Ben Goodchild, Ryan Brown); Harbridge Ath 6 (Martin Welch 3, Stefan Banaszak 2, Paul Jones), Badgers 1; Lower Street 1, Potter Street 2; Northolt 0, Sheering res 1. Div One Cup, 2nd rnd: Avondale Rangers res 5, North Weald res 2 (Jason Pottle 2).

Rob's Rev-ed up!

ROB Revell hit a 180 maximum as his Sawbridgeworth Brewery side stormed past Colt Hatch 7-1 in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Servolink beat Moot House by the same scoreline.

Ron Green (Servo) enjoyed a 106 out-shot.

Tye Green Whites beat Staple Tye Colts 7-1 and this was also the scoreline as Moot House Raiders were thrashed by White Admiral.

Other results: Tye Green Foxes 6, Crusader 2; Stow Snooker 8, Golden Swift 0 (Swift did not field side).

Ladies seal victory

HARLOW Ladies continued their good form with a 29-5 victory at Hampstead in the RFUW National Challenge South East North One.

Tracey Lee got all the tries for the Rams, who suffered a blow with the news that captain Nikky Millman (knee injury) will miss the rest of the season.

SELECTIONS for the racing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium tomorrow (Friday March 9):- 7.30pm Marmalade; 7.49pm Buglys Tilly (NAP); 8.08pm Chelsea Essie; 8.27pm Buglys Buddha; 8.46pm Lambstown Joker (NB); 9.04pm Kilmagner; 9.22pm Darcy Dasher; 9.40pm Lord Fox; 9.58pm Takeshi Lee; 10.15pm Darts Wizard.

Harlow 15, Sudbury 6

RFU London & SE, div three north east

THE pressure is building on promotion-hunting Rams as they seek to gain the second available place and move back up to division two north east.

Harlow remain in the runner-up spot after their home victory over Sudbury five days ago and face another must-win clash at 6th-placed Upminster this Saturday.

The Rams failed to take all their opportunities and only scored two tries against lowly Sudbury.

They failed to get a bonus point from this victory, while third-placed Stowmarket cut the gap when they picked up a bonus point in their 31-22 home win against Upminster.

This meant Harlow's lead over Stowmarket was cut to four points.

The battle for the second promotion spot promises to be extremely tight.

Harlow have 60 points and Stowmarket have 56 after 18 games.

Wanstead (fourth with 51 points from 17 games) and Norwich (fifth with 49 points from 17 matches) both lost last Saturday, weakening their promotion chances.

The opening quarter against Sudbury was marked by the visitors' speedy backs being twice thwarted by determined Harlow defence.

At the other end, the Rams failed to make early pressure count but went 3-0 ahead on 25 minutes through a Michael Dobson penalty.

But Sudbury scored two penalties either side of the break to go 6-3 up.

Harlow were playing up the hill in the second period, but finally scored their first try on 50 minutes.

The hosts took a quick tap penalty and launched a neat move involving six players which ended with inside centre Wayne Heapy setting up outside centre Simon Vanbeck to crash over for a try. Dobson missed the conversion.

Harlow increased the lead with their second try on 64 minutes. A neat solo break by Dobson was followed by good work from Vanbeck before number eight Kain Claridge touched down under the posts. Dobson converted.

Sudbury exerted late pressure, but Harlow's defence held firm to seal victory.

HARLOW: Hills, Kotze, Vanbeck, Heapy, Drake (Woodington 73), Dobson, Powell, Cunningham, Wilkins, Stonehouse (Roze 62), Twiner, Eynon, Roberts, Claridge, M. Bowering (Wright 77).

>>sport in brief

HOCKEY: A first-half hat-trick from Craig Cholerton steered Harlow to a 3-1 victory at Old Southendian II and kept their promotion hopes alive in East Men's League division four south east.

Two sides are set to be promoted and Harlow are in sixth spot, but just three points behind second-placed Saffron Walden II – although they host leaders East London this weekend!

Three points are awarded for a win and one for a draw so there is much to play for.

All the top six sides have four games left, apart from fifth-placed Saffron Walden II who have three games remaining.

Harlow went ahead after five minutes on Saturday at Old Southendian.

A three-man move ended with Cholerton taking the ball between two home defenders and running half the length of the pitch to nudge coolly past the advancing keeper.

Ten minutes later, the ball deflected around the Southendian 'D' before Cholerton swept the ball into the net for a 2-0 lead.

Cholerton completed his hat-trick on the half-hour mark.

He robbed a home player of possession and broke into the hosts 'D' before rifling into a corner of the net.

The second half saw Old Southendian raise their game and it turned into a tight mid-field battle with not many chances for either side.

The hosts scored a consolation goal from a penalty corner with seven minutes remaining.

This was the first goal that Harlow keeper Richard Norris had conceded in more than 200 minutes of hockey.

HARLOW: Norris, Castle, Plumridge, Grace, Krzozka, Symonds, Smith, Cholerton, Mace, Fuller, Kirk.

HOCKEY: Tempers frayed as Harlow Ladies slipped to a shock 2-1 home defeat against mid-table Old Southendian.

The result left Harlow in third in the Essex Women's League premier division for the first time this season.

Saturday's ill-tempered clash required the umpires' interventions at times.

Both teams struggled to gain early fluency before the visitors went ahead on 27 minutes.

Captain and forward Ashlie Colman tucked the ball beyond Harlow keeper Linda Rowley after a free hit outside the D.

The hosts equalised just before half-time. A long ball from Emma Tweddle allowed Georgina Esterhuysen to cross for the waiting Claire Attack to finish.

Both defences thwarted attacks before Southendians' winner came on 63 minutes.

A through ball saw the alert Colman get there before Harlow's Anita Shearman and the former capitalised on a missed clearance by Rowley to fire in her second goal.

There was no further score as Harlow were left to rue missed opportunities.

Harlow are away to Maldon & Little Baddow this Saturday.

HARLOW: Welsford, Rowley, Shearman, Stanesby, Phipps, Douglas, Trimble, Tweddle, Spencer, Attack, Esterhuysen.

RUNNING: Steve Murtagh excelled as he took the bronze medal for the veteran 40 category in the Essex 20-mile race.

The Harlow Running Club member was eighth overall and completed Sunday's race at Langham near Colchester in a top time of two hours, 5 secs.

He was followed home by club-mates Jamie Jephcott (63rd, 2:21.01) and Steve Ambrose (98th, PB 2:29.54).

Debutant 20-miler Andy Bradley clocked 2:34.48, while Dionne Jones was the first Harlow woman finisher in a superb time of 2:35.36.

Meanwhile, Harlow's Andy Kinney went to Florida to compete in the Miami Beach half marathon. He clocked 1:56.54 (485th from 3,080 finishers).

Other Harlow RC results at Essex 20: John Bull, 186th 2:46.01; Dave Page 269th, 2:59.21; Wendy Bradford 382nd, 3:30.34; Susan Dewen 386th, 3:32.20 (PB); Alison Bull 388th, 3:35.15; Susan Gillard 392nd, 3:37.50; Paulene Galoppi 400th, 3:47.46; Kim Wooley 401st, 3:48.57.

CROSS COUNTRY: Henry Moore took pride of place once again as it won the annual Harlow Primary Schools Cross Country competition in Harlow.

It is the fourth time that the Kiln Lane school has won this tournament.

Henry Moore won six of the eight team races in the event which was held for the first time at Paringdon Sports Club in Southern Way, Harlow.

Roydon Primary School won two of the year group categories.

Twelve schools took part and the event was organised by the Harlow School Sports Partnership (HSSP).

Winners (first places): Girls Year 3 – Hollie McDell (Fawbert & Barnard); Year 4 – Charlotte Pratt (Henry Moore); Year 5 – Ana Cunnning (Roydon); Year 6 – Claudia Andrews (Henry Moore).

Boys Year 3 – Oliver Carter (Henry Moore); Year 4 – Charlie Powell (Henry Moore); Year 5 – Jake Dickinson (St Albans); Year 6 – Lewis Harknett (St James).

Rivals head off for World Indoor Champs

ATHLETE Andrew Osagie thinks the image of fellow 800m Great Britain runner and rival Joe Thomas is built up too much by the media.

The pair flew out yesterday (Wednesday) as part of the Great Britain team to compete in the IAAF World Indoor Athletics Championships in Istanbul which start tomorrow.

Thomas (24), from Cardiff, is not your typical straight-laced sportsman in appearance.

Boasting a nose ring, three tattoos and a 'way-out' hairstyle, he does not convey the establishment image of a latter day Sebastian Coe or Steve Ovett.

It is more that of a rock star or showbusiness celebrity.

But Osagie, 24, of Northbrooks in Harlow, said: "It's the media that thinks more about it than the athletes or coaches do."

"We speak to each other when we go to races. It's not a vicious rivalry like Coe and Ovett. We get the best out of each other."

He added: "For people in the sport the times are the most important things."

"He's a really nice guy and I'm not sure if he is as much of a character as his appearance suggests."

Osagie is hopeful he can reach at least the semi-final in Turkey. He said: "The draw will be done in such a way that runners from the same team are kept apart from each other."

He will be aiming to improve on his appearance in the 800m semi-finals at the last World Indoor Championships in 2010.

He feels much stronger now after beating a brief illness.

Osagie set a time of 1 min 46.53 secs at the Aviva Grand Prix meeting in Birmingham on February 18 when he qualified for the World Championships, despite the illness.

"The training has been going a lot better and I struggled with a lot of coughing and felt feverish in the week after Birmingham," confessed Osagie.

Stalemate with neighbours stretches poor run

THE disappointing 1-1 draw with neighbours Waltham Abbey at Barrows Farm on Saturday stretched Hawks' miserable league run to one win in five games.

Abbey went close early on when Luke Webster's fierce shot was parried by keeper Bertrand Bossu on 13 minutes.

Harlow hit back and after a goalmouth scramble, Abbey's Jack Daveney cleared off his own goal line on 19 minutes from Jeff Hammond's shot.

Just past the midway point of the first half Harlow went close again after a great kick on by Jeff Hammond teed up Emmanuel Osei, but he curled an effort wide against his old club.

The hosts would rue this miss as Abbey went in front a minute later. Ex-Stortford striker Ayrton Coley controlled a loose ball in the box and sent a measured shot into the bottom corner on 25 minutes.

The visitors had several chances in the first half and also went close early in the second half when ex-Hawk Lewis Bristow was brought down on the edge of the box and the same player's free-kick was palmed around low by Bossu.

But Harlow equalised on 56 minutes.

Osei did well but his curling shot was heading wide until it came to Dave Cowley who smashed the ball into the net at the back post. It was Cowley's third goal in three games since rejoining the club.

After some home pressure, Abbey had the edge and Bristow went close before Bossu denied impressive Abbey skipper Steve Cawley on 70 minutes.

At the other end, sub Taylor's shot from out wide was beaten out by Abbey keeper Richard Hayward.

Abbey defended well in the latter stages to hold on for the point which was the least they deserved.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "Our performance was one of the worst of the season."

"We were very poor in the first half and could not pass and were second to everything. We were better in the second half."

HARLOW TN: Bossu, Barnard (Taylor 25), Brown, Haverson, Kirby, Kilapi (Bruno 45), Cowley, Lalite, Osei, Hammond (Maxwell 55), Deane. Subs not used: Mann, Marshall.

Double blow for Hawks

Heybridge Swifts 1,
Harlow Tn 3

Ryman, division one north

THE win over Heybridge Swifts which reignited Hawks' faltering play-off charge has been tempered by the injuries to skipper Danny Brown and striker James Peagram.

Brown sustained suspected cracked ribs during the disappointing 1-1 draw against Waltham Abbey and the Harlow Town boss discovered this week that he could be out for up to a month.

His leadership and skilful play – as well as his superb spot-kicks – will be missed as Harlow look to finish in the top five.

Peagram sustained a broken arm in an accident outside football and will be sidelined for the rest of the season.

Chapman said: "Paul West-Hook [the Harlow physio] thinks that Danny will be out for four or five weeks. He had an injury in the same area earlier this season."

"He's a big player and we will miss him, but Michael Deane did very well at left-back for us against Heybridge Swifts and was one of our two best players."

He added: "James does give you something and it's disappointing for him but we do have people that can cover for him. We are not going to press the panic button."

Chapman was buoyed by his team's win at Heybridge on Tuesday. "We played very well at Heybridge and it was important as if we had lost we would Taylor corner fell kindly for him.

Sub Ben Jones, making his debut, had only two prior touches before he scored on 88 minutes when he cleverly anticipated a weak back header and sent Willis the wrong way.

Heybridge netted a consolation in the fifth minute of injury-time when Luke Callender rifled home.

HARLOW TN: Bossu, Taylor, Deane, Haverson, Kirby, Kilapi, Cowley, Maxwell, Osei (Lalite 64), Hammond (Jones 87), Marshall (Bruno 73). Subs not used: Wheeler, Mann.

WALTHAM Abbey have put in a seven-day approach for Hawks midfielder Tom Bruno.

The youngster has been in and out of the Harlow side in recent months.

The Hawks visit play-off rivals Needham Market this Saturday.

Needham are third and just five points above fourth-placed Harlow, for whom right-back Donny Barnard (calf) is a doubt, but striker Piers Wixon (hamstring) should return. "Needham are a good side and we want to be positive against them but there will be more twists and turns after this," said Hawks boss Danny Chapman, who could give a debut to newly-signed striker Hamid Bangura.

Defender Lamar Lemonius will be out for the season as a scan has revealed knee ligament damage.
